Our Clinical Monitoring Section needs support of a

Junior Clinical Research Associate Home based in Italy

You are the contact person for the study centers and support them according to GCP/ICH and national clinical research laws and guidelines. You collect, monitor, and review documentation and data from the study start to study close-out. You coordinate study activities and you follow the performance of clinical trial centers remotely and on-site to verify their data.

You work from your home office base, supporting different clinical trials conducted in various clinical centers across Italy. You have at least one-year experience as CRA, an understanding of clinical trials, excellent communication skills and effective time management, organizational, interpersonal- and problem-solving skills, with the ability to multi-task and prioritize. The position requires fluent in written and oral English and Italian.
